

Patrick Reyners is Head of Legal Affairs at the Nuclear Energy Agency (NEA), a department of the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD). He is also Registrar of the European Nuclear Energy Tribunal and Editor of the Nuclear Law Bulletin. He serves as Secretary of the NEA Nuclear Law Committee.

Reyners has published numerous articles, reports and books on the legal aspects of international co-operation and nuclear institutions, safety of nuclear installations and transport, and management and disposal of radioactive waste and nuclear liability. He is a lecturer on various aspects of nuclear law at the OECD summer school on nuclear law and participates in IAEA training courses.

Mr. Reyners obtained a Master of International and Public Law from the Paris Faculty of Law, and received advanced specialized education at the Institut d'Etudes Politiques de Paris, Section of International Relations.